To Shannon and Family You have my deepest sympathy upon the passing of your Mother and Sister. I have fond memories of Evelyn - her quiet manner and sweet smile. I last saw her in Food Lion here in Ahoskie. We both had on masks and didn't recognize each other at first. I remember the time she stopped by and took me to a pipe-organ concert at a local church. She will always hold a special place in our hearts. Alyse Grant

My thoughts, love, and prayers are with the Outlaw family! I have such fond memories of Mrs. Outlaw. My parents, sister and I attended her wedding in Littleton, NC. I was in the first English class she taught at Bertie Senior High. As a neighbor, I would sometimes ride home with her after school, where she took the opportunity to share some valued life lessons. She was a powerful role model, who gave light and hope to all her students. A gifted vocalist, she would often sing solos at our church, Indian Woods Baptist. I can hear her voice as I write. Thank you, "my high school English teacher", for a purposeful life well lived and your dedication to teaching

To the Family of Mrs. Evelyn T. Outlaw (will always be in our hearts) known initially as Miss Taylor; an "Accomplished" English Educator who truly impacted the lives of her students' at Dear Old "McIver High School" in Littleton, North Carolina; Halifax County School System.The freshman class was her first teaching experience after graduating from Elizabeth City State University. I can remember so vividly being a student in her freshman class, and as a neighbor because he resided across the opposite side of Ferguson Street. Mrs. Outlaw was a positive role model for students with her contagious smile, quiet demeanor but when she spoke, you knew her words had merit; in the classroom and within the community. She only spoke a word to discipline you once, and the next time one was off task, she paused and provided a non-verbal gesture; eye, and right hand on her hip, and that was enough to propel one to self-correct. Her non-verbal communication for discipline was very effective. Mrs. Outlaw instilled the sense of proper English composition, and her impact for the love of teaching required students to remain attentive throughout her class. I am immensely grateful for the sacrifices she made to help me to become a better writer. Her words will always resonate in my heart, "Burgess" as she said, " When you are writing, make sure is is readable, that is-clear, accurate, and, concise- When you write a paper, try to get your ideas across in such a way that the audience will understand them effortless, unambiguously, and rapid". Those appeared such big words, and I knew too well that I had best grasp the conceptual skills and pass Freshman English. I have reflective memories of her teaching and have progressed over the years to an effective writer with complex thoughts, and ideas into simple language. As a consequences of Mrs. Evelyn Outlaws valuable quality that aided me to tackle even the densest subject matters by breaking it down into uncomplicated pieces; that's has been quickly and easily understood by others

When I saw her name, listed on the obituary, I didn't want to believe that it was Evelyn. It was only when I read the memory, of one person, who said that Evelyn was a great person and educator, that I began to shed some tears. She was a role model to me, when I first moved to North Carolina, from Queens, in New York City. I had never seen a woman, drive such luxury vehicles, until I taught high school and summer school, with Evelyn. We became friends, and I truly enjoyed talking with her, whenever we saw one another. When she moved to Ahoskie, I often saw her in Speedway, on Memorial Drive, and we talked and laughed, as we walked outside, to our vehicles! Our conversations ranged from flowers, our children, Covid-19, local tragedies, etc. We are both retired from education, and were proud of our long commitment to it. I am truly going to miss seeing her, around Ahoskie! Rest In Peace, Evelyn! Your soul has flown away, but you will never be forgotten, in the Bertie County School System!❤️
