“ I will miss you Ms. Fannie. I always enjoyed stopping by spending time with you and Mr. George and hearing you two talk about your earlier times together. You two as a couple did so much for your family and grand children and friends also. You both welcomed us into the neighborhood and shared your wonderful vegetables from your garden on so many occasions. Ms. Fannie reminded me of my mother in the way she cared and loved her family. God called Mr. George home and we still continued to stop by and visit with you. You will be truly missed in my life and in our hearts. A wonderful woman, mother, grandmother, neighbor, and woman of God.

“ Mrs. FannieMae Freeman, my Godmother, truly exemplified what a Godmother means. She loved me just like her own daughter. She never missed a birthday nor special occasion. She was there to provide assistance when there was a need. She provided many experiences that are now precious memories such as picking scuppernong grapes on the farm, taking me to get my first relaxer, shopping trips, Christmas Parties at the Omni hotel in Norfolk, always included me for the Boyd & Freeman family reunions. Even as I became an adult, she continued to show her love. Every time when I would come home and visit her, she always had something for me, be it yeast rolls or homemade ice cream. Though you are gone, the memories I will forever have because you truly lived a life that touched other lives. Thank you for being my Godmother! I Love you Mrs. Fannie Mae.
