“ I'd only known Scott a few years but he did leave behind a few funny memories! Scott, Lori & I were on her porch one afternoon & she was telling me about getting burned as a baby & what they had to do. She proceeded to tell me that they grafted skin from her butt to fix the burned area. Well, Scott being Scott popped out with, "if you ever wanna kiss her butt, just kiss her on the Cheek". I'm sorry but I laughed so hard, I cried- we all did! 🤪 Needless to say, he was a very protective big brother so of course he could say silly stuff about her but I guarantee you that no one else best not say anything about her!!! We've all 3 laughed about it many times & that day & funny joke will always be a fond reminder to me of just how much he truly loved his little sister, Lori B!!! She was always there for him, regardless of what she had to do for him & I witnessed so much love and regard for her brother that most do not have, as such a wonderful support system that all siblings should have for one another. I think we can all learn a lesson from these past few years, of just what a loyal sibling should be & we don't get a 2nd chance to make things right. RIP Scott & Lori, slow down now & fulfill your life!
