“ I might not be been the easiest person to love but you showed me how to love . You always told me you were the one . The one I was suppose to fight for and I didn't , you always said I fought for what I believe in and Stephen you have more to fight for then you realize . There was never a dull moment around here . Laughing joking on each other as well as Savannah joining in and y'all both gang up on me . You had a great bond with the grandkids they enjoyed ever min of time with you . Poppy was the name Callie gave you from the trolls man you said that thing has pink hair Callie said that's because it's a girl poppy . You told her I'm named after a girl troll she said yep you said okay . Might not of had you long in my life but I had you in my life forever and not one person can say I didn't do my job . God knows I tried everything I could too . Might not of been there when you took your last breath but you assured me it was okay cause you knew what was going on . I don't have to answer to anyone but you and god and god knew as well . And what I was told is the vision of that never goes away I have enough good and bad to last a life time . I wuv you and please watch over our families you know the story .
